The former regulations on abstinence obliged Catholics starting as young as age seven, but there were many exceptions. Large classes of people were considered exempt from fasting and abstinence, not only the sick and those with physically demanding jobs, but also people traveling and students. The regulations were adapted to each nation, and so in most

Christ Church's statutes set a very high bar for a Dean's removal; the fact that he might have lost the confidence of the majority of Governing Body would not have been enough. This was a bar that Sir Andrew did not feel had been met when he rejected all of the claims in the complaint. He did, however, find that Dr Percy had breached his fiduciary duty and expressed his surprise at the ...

Christ Church and Dr Martyn Percy: Our Response

He rationalized that if bishops fail to observe rules and regulations, then priests and laity are not required to accept disciplines which contradict the general laws of the Church. That is why he initially refused to leave his pastorate. It was only in early April of 1886, after a judgment of the civil court on March 19, 1886, rendered a verdict in his disfavor, that the priest left Detroit ...
