Interactive Study Programs Make God's Word Come Alive. Why is the Bible, one of the bestselling books of all time, often left on our shelves gathering dust? Perhaps because we misunderstand the purpose of the Holy Scriptures. Our ScriptureWalk series is designed specifically for Catholic senior and junior high youth, to help them connect with the voice of God in their lives. Using dynamic, engaging, and active learning strategies to bring the Scriptures to life, ScriptureWalk invites teens to open their hearts by reflecting on how God appears to them through events and people. Each ScriptureWalk Senior High session is built on a Scripture passage, with a 45- to 60- minute Bible study, a 15- to 20-minute creative activity that applies the passage to teen life, and a 10- to 15-minute prayer service that brings the theme into group prayer. ScriptureWalk Junior High sessions are designed to serve younger adolescents with shorter attention spans: each 90-minute session changes often through various discussions, crafts, games, and creative prayer times to reflect on the Scriptures. This energetic program fits easily into the junior or senior high youth-group format. You can also use it to enhance your youth ministry in catechetical sessions, weekly study groups, miniretreats, or Scripture classes. Each volume includes everything you need to plan a session your teens won't soon forget!

Self-harm in adolescents is an increasingly recognized problem, and there is growing awareness of the important role schools and health services can play in detecting and supporting those at risk. By Their Own Young Hand explores the findings of the first large-scale survey of deliberate self-harm and suicidal thinking in adolescents in the UK, and draws out the implications for prevention strategies and mental health promotion. Six thousand young people were asked about their experiences of self-harm, the coping methods they use, and their attitudes to the help and support available. The authors identify the risk and protective factors for self-harm, exploring why some adolescents with suicidal thoughts go on to harm themselves while others do not, what motivates some young people to seek help, and whether distressed teenagers feel they receive the support they need. By Their Own Young Hand offers practical advice on how schools can detect young people at risk, cope with the aftermath of self-harm or attempted suicide, and develop training programmes for teachers. It also examines the roles of self-help, telephone helplines, email counselling, and walk-in crisis centres. Packed with adolescents' own personal accounts and perspectives, this accessible overview will be essential reading for teachers, social workers and mental health professionals.

Adulthood is taken for granted. It connotes the end of childhood, the resolution to the "storm and stress" period of adolescence. This conception is strongly entrenched in the sociology of youth and the sociology of the life course as well as in the policy arena. At the same time, adulthood itself remains unarticulated; journey's end remains conceptually fixed and theoretically uncontested. Adulthood, then, is both central to the social imagination and neglected as an area of sociological investigation, something that has been noted by sociologists over the last four decades. Going beyond the overwhelmingly psychological literature, this book draws on original qualitative research and theories of social recognition and thus presents a first step towards filling an important gap in our understanding of the meaning of adulthood.

Footbinding was common in China until the early twentieth century, when most Chinese were family farmers. Why did these families bind young girls' feet? And why did footbinding stop? In this groundbreaking work, Laurel Bossen and Hill Gates upend the popular view of footbinding as a status, or even sexual, symbol by showing that it was an undeniably effective way to get even very young girls to sit still and work with their hands. Interviews with 1,800 elderly women, many with bound feet, reveal the reality of girls' hand labor across the North China Plain, Northwest China, and Southwest China. As binding reshaped their feet, mothers disciplined girls to spin, weave, and do other handwork because many village families depended on selling such goods. When factories eliminated the economic value of handwork, footbinding died out. As the last generation of footbound women passes away, Bound Feet, Young Hands presents a data-driven examination of the social and economic aspects of this misunderstood custom.
