When the author's mother died he discovered over 200 letters in a shoe box that his father had written to her during their separation during World War II. Captain Lashley was stationed first at a hospital in England as a supply officer and then as the commander of a prisoner of war camp in France. During those months his letters tell of the events of his life. Some are boring and seem to be of little consequence, others are filled with emotional turmoil. Rene Lashley, his wife, has his fourth child while he is away, moves in with her mother and sister and raises her other three children. Kirk, the second son, is puzzled by what is happening, but continues doing those things a normal child does. The book is an effort to show the common, everyday concerns of all the family members in what is an unprecedented time in the life of the family and the world. The story is told through the voices of the soldier, the mom, and the child.

I had always suspected the geographical authorities did not know what they were talking about when they located the battlefield of Munda in the county of the Bastuli-Poeni, close to the modern Monda, some two leagues north of Marbella. According to my own surmise, founded on the text of the anonymous author of the Bellum Hispaniense, and on certain information culled from the excellent library owned by the Duke of Ossuna, I believed the site of the memorable struggle in which Caesar played double or quits, once and for all, with the champions of the Republic, should be sought in the neighbourhood of Montilla. Happening to be in Andalusia during the autumn of 1830, I made a somewhat lengthy excursion, with the object of clearing up certain doubts which still oppressed me. A paper which I shall shortly publish will, I trust, remove any hesitation that may still exist in the minds of all honest archaeologists. But before that dissertation of mine finally settles the geographical problem on the solution of which the whole of learned Europe hangs, I desire to relate a little tale. It will do no prejudice to the interesting question of the correct locality of Monda. I had hired a guide and a couple of horses at Cordova, and had started on my way with no luggage save a few shirts, and Caesar's Commentaries. As I wandered, one day, across the higher lands of the Cachena plain, worn with fatigue, parched with thirst, scorched by a burning sun, cursing Caesar and Pompey's sons alike, most heartily, my eye lighted, at some distance from the path I was following, on a little stretch of green sward dotted with reeds and rushes. That betokened the neighbourhood of some spring, and, indeed, as I drew nearer I perceived that what had looked like sward was a marsh, into which a stream, which seemed to issue from a narrow gorge between two high spurs of the Sierra di Cabra, ran and disappeared.

"Byrne ... considered that it might be easier to learn geometry if colors were substituted for the letters usually used to designate the angles and lines of geometric figures. Instead of referring to, say, 'angle ABC,' Byrne's text substituted a blue or yellow or red section equivalent to similarly colored sections in the theorem's main diagram."--Friedman.

In the future, Mothers have legally achieved the natural right to abort their offspring up until the moment of viability. An Unborn is not considered legally viable until the 18th anniversary of their Entrance, or the day they left their mother's body. Until the moment of being Born, the mother has complete and 100% Choice on whether or not to abort her child. These abortions are done by nursing teams who use cattle thuds to terminate the Unborn. Summer dreams and longs for the day when she will be legally viable so that she will no longer have to worry about being aborted. This dystopian future is shocking because it is so close to becoming a reality, that it makes "1984" seem like a bright utopian spring day. Profoundly disturbing! But the logical extension of the pro-abortion, euthanasia, medical ethicists. Undeniably shocking! But why should this work of fiction be anymore shocking than the slaughter of babies that happens every day in America? This book is intended to be read by everyone, pro-life or pro-abortion. Some people will be appalled at the future described, and others will welcome it as the natural logical extension of their beliefs. Whatever you believe, this book will force you to think about those beliefs. The novel 1984 cannot hold a candle to the terrifying, and even more realistic near future painted in Unborn. Abortion ethicists have advocated on a non-fictional basis everything portrayed in this book. It is only a matter of time before the Unborn future becomes a reality. For far too many children, it has already become a reality. A reality that ended for them with their deaths. The modern abolitionist seeks to abolish the slaughter of babies, just as the 19th century abolitionist sought to abolish the evil institution of slavery. However, born out of the eugenics movement that sought to exterminate the black man since he could no longer be enslaved, the modern abortion movement is an evil institution far surpassing the evils of slavery. In the 19th century, Uncle Tom's Cabin opened the eyes of America to the need for the abolition of slavery and in the 21st century, Unborn will open the eyes of America to the need for the abolition of abortion. This book is the modern abolitionist's Uncle Tom's Cabin. Warning! This book is not intended for younger children. The book portrays fictionally a graphic and disturbing utopian future where abortion rights are absolute. Intended for teenagers, who are forced to confront today these horrible issues by a world gone mad, the graphic and disturbing nature of the logic of modern man is taken to its inevitable conclusions. Parental Discretion Advised. Parents should read this book before allowing their children to read it.
